October is Domestic Violence Awareness Month, and the Women's Leadership Project will once again be holding the Red Flag Campaign here on campus. We will be promoting a bystander intervention strategy to address and prevent sexual assault, dating violence, and stalking on college campuses. The campaign encourages friends and other campus community members to say something when they see warning signs ("red flags") for sexual assault, dating violence, or stalking in a friend's relationship.

Visit the Red Flag Campaign's website at www.theredflagcampaign.org.

Honors Course Proposal Deadline

The Fort Hays State University Honors College is now accepting Honors Course Proposals for the Fall 2018 Academic Semester.

The Honors College is looking for exceptional faculty to teach courses to outstanding students on campus. Participating in one of the university's Programs of Distinction is a chance to expand learning opportunities for students, as well as experiment with new strategies in and out of the classroom.

While FHSU strives for academic excellence in all classes, at the heart of a successful honors program is the unique interaction between teacher and student made possible by the opportunities in an honors course. Intellectual challenge is supported by pedagogy that stimulates students to think about topics in new ways, explore subject matter in greater depth or breadth, and gain first-hand exposure to issues through experiential learning. Quality is valued over quantity through rigorous and deeper course work that provides opportunities not available in tradition courses. Interactivity is not only gratifying in an honors course, but central to its success whether a debate, discussion, or connection outside the classroom.

The deadline for all Honors course proposals is October 6, 2017. The application form, as well as more information about the process and examples, can be found at <https://www.fhsu.edu/honors/Resources-and-Forms/>. All applications can be emailed to Jensen Scheele, Honors College Administrative Specialist, at jnscheele@fhsu.edu.

If you have any questions about Honors Courses, please feel free to contact Dr. Carol Patrick at clpatrick@fhsu.edu or 785-628-4406.

Fall Adjunct Training Classes

Adjunct Faculty: Interested in some training, as well as a raise in pay (if eligible)?

In Fall 2017, we will again be offering our two training classes for VC adjuncts:

- Foundations of Online Teaching: for new adjuncts (as determined by your chair)

- Advanced Concepts in Online Teaching: for adjuncts with a bit of experience (as determined by your chair)

Both of these shells will open on September 4 and close on October 16. Faculty are welcome to complete the requirements at their own pace, as long as they complete the course by October 16.

Both courses offer, as compensation for completion, a promotion to the next level of adjunct pay ($200/three-hour class increase). This pay increase takes effect the semester after completion. However, an adjunct who completes the Foundations course must wait a year before taking the Advanced course. In other words, if you complete the Foundations course in Summer 2017, you would be eligible to take the Advanced course in Summer 2018. Also, the adjunct salary cap remains in effect. So, if you are currently capped on pay, you are welcome to take a training class, but will not be eligible for an increase.

Additionally, the courses are somewhat customizable, comprised of both required modules and elective modules, so that you can choose the content that best fits your training needs.

This fall's sections include modules on Anticipatory Sets (new as of Summer 2017) and Writing Sound Test Questions (new as of Fall 2017).

Chair approval is required for either course. To enroll in either course, please ask your department chair to email Nicole Frank at nmfrank@fhsu.edu and request that you be added to the appropriate class.

Scope & Requirements Management

October 24 & 25; 9:00am to 4:00pm

Sternberg Museum

Managing scope on a project is one of the most difficult and demanding jobs of a project manager. Pinning down the project scope starts with a clear understanding of the needs and expectations of the key stakeholders. It involves more than just knowing what needs done. It also requires knowing what not to do and how to manage the changes that inevitably come up during a project.

In this Management Development Center Workshop, participants will work in teams to develop a project charter, gather requirements, write a scope statement and create a Work Breakdown Structure (WBS), as well as learn to manage scope once the work begins.

This workshop is facilitated by Christina House. Please view the full details on our website:

<http://www.fhsu.edu/cob/mdc/Scope-and-Requirements-Management/>.

Because we partner with the Wichita State University Center for Management Development, this workshop is not complimentary to FHSU employees. However, you or someone you know, can register online here: <http://cmd.wichita.edu/Courses/scope-requirements-management-in-hays-kansas/>.

Contact Hannah Hilker at (785) 628-4121 or hehilker@fhsu.edu if you need assistance with registration.
